

A day with

Steve BIDDULPH

MAKING SCHOOL A BETTER PLACE FOR BOYS

A one-day seminar for teachers, principals and other professionals in primary and secondary education.

A rare chance to hear, in person, from the man who kick-started the Boys Education movement worldwide!

In this seminar, Steve digs deeper into what is needed for boys, and for men, and for the women who care about them. He shows how schools can change, and how understanding masculinity can alter the way you teach.

Effective learning, better behaviour, friendlier and more caring schools, more fun and satisfaction for teachers, a safer and better environment for girls... all result from the practical steps and insights offered by Steve in his world-famous seminar.

Friday 15th May, 2009.

Venue: Metcalfe Auditorium, State Library of NSW - Macquarie St, Sydney.

Session Time: 9:30am - 3:30pm. Registration from 8.30am.

Morning tea and lunch provided.

Feedback from seminar participants:

"Steve models what he teaches - the importance of being real... He is simply a fine teacher. It's not just what he teaches, it's how. The effects stay with you a long time."

"The best days' professional development I've ever spent."

"Life-changing. Our staff were deeply affected."

"Everything was inspiring!! Thank you!"

"All aspects have relevance to improving education for boys - seminar notes were excellent."

"This is the best inservice I have been to in years. I'll be back!!!"

STEVE BIDDULPH

Making School a Better Place for Boys

Steve Biddulph realised that males were in crisis at a time when it was fashionable to ignore their needs. He blitzed schools and communities around the globe with engaging, deeply moving and highly practical teaching seminars, attracting over 130,000 people in a 20 year campaign. At the same time, he mobilised parents with his popular books, including RAISING BOYS and MANHOOD, which are now in 4 million homes in 27 languages.

Topics include:

What kind of man do we want to create?

Developmental differences between the sexes - what can schools do?

Father Hunger - the hidden epidemic harming boys.

Testosterone and its effects on behaviour.

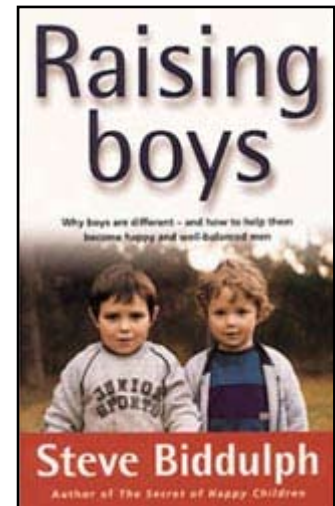

Are boys' brains different?

Problem boys - what is the underlying cause?

Boys & English - how to help them achieve.

Making the classroom more boy-friendly.

Making the school community healthier.
